The AGM is coming (in April)

With four members retiring from the committee, we are looking for some new faces. Why don't you join us? We value those who serve and those who have served. In the way of modern organisations, we have job descriptions of the portfolios available so you can see what needs to be done. Please contact any of the current committee members if you want to find out more. Nominations can be made at the AGM, but showing your interest before then would be a great help!

Membership renewals

Our new membership year begins 1 April. Thanks to those who have already renewed their branch membership for 2010-2011. If you haven't renewed yet, please send a $20 cheque (per person) payable to "Kapiti Genealogy". Address it to Membership secretary, Kapiti Branch NZSG, P O Box 703 Paraparaumu 5254. Be sure to write your name and address on the back of the envelope. Include your NZSG number if you belong to the national society.

You can also pay by internet banking to account number 03 0732 0263025 00. Put your surname in the first field, and if you have an NZSG membership number (for the national society), put that number in one of the other code or reference fields. Please email lornamoaa@gmail.com to say you've paid online so she can match names with payments. New yellow membership cards will be available at the branch meeting or sent to you.

Getting started in Petone

Hutt Valley branch is having a "Getting started in family history" research day on Saturday 27 March from 10 am to 3pm at Petone Library. Entry is $5. For more information email huttvalley@genealogy.org.nz or ring Janice on 04 938 0346, or Deb on 04 567 0213.

London records

Findmypast.co.uk has launched its London Collection, which includes these records:

- City of London Burial Index - 1813 to 1890
- West Middlesex Marriage Index - 1538 to 1837
- London Docklands Baptisms - 1712 to 1933
- London and West Kent Probate Indexes - 1750 – 1858
- The Matchworkers' Strike - listing more than 700 participants of the strike in East London in 1888.

Kapiti branch has a subscription to findmypast.co.uk on computer 2 at APFHC, making access to this website of millions of genealogical records free to members.

New fees for England and Wales certificates

In April the standard charge for ordering birth, death and marriage certificates for England and Wales from the General Record Office (GRO) increases to £9.25. The amount will be the same whether or not you know the reference number. Last orders at the old rate of £7 must be with the NZSG Purchasing Officer by Saturday 3 April. (Orders through the NZSG Purchasing Officer are for members of the national society only.)

Book review

Census: The Expert Guide, by Peter Christian and David Annal. 250+ pages.

This is a compelling, up-to-the-minute guide to using the England census in your family history research. Written by a bestselling genealogy author and a National Archives expert, Census shows how to interpret intricate details of your ancestors lives. It explores how information was gathered on names, addresses, family relationships and occupations, revealing why 'mysteries' occur and what may be hidden between the lines. Also includes the 1911 Irish census. The branch has a copy of this book to raffle at the March branch meeting.

Another brickwall crumbles

For some years my 4xgreat grandmother, Elizabeth Blake, was a bit of a mystery. We couldn't find a death for her. She married Isaac Maddocks on 16 July 1835 in Bath, Somerset, England. It seems it wasn't a happy marriage. By the 1851 census, Elizabeth was on her own with the three children. To survive, Elizabeth had to work as a shoe binder. Throughout his life, Isaac lived in the workhouse, where he died 24 April 1898.

A search of other census records did not shed any further light on Elizabeth, so I assumed she had died before the 1861 census. A search of the English death records, however, did not say when she died. I decided she had missed being included on the indexes and left it at that.

Some years later, I scrolled through the microfiche at the National Library, looking for marriages of Maddocks children in the Gloucester area. I found a marriage for an Elizabeth Maddocks. Thinking she might be related to the family, I used the online indexes and cross-referenced the spouse. This Elizabeth had married Charles Woodman in 1870.

I didn't take much notice of the husband's name until one day I happened to look at the 1861 census. On this census was Edwin Maddocks, the son of Elizabeth and Isaac. Also listed were Charles Woodman and his wife Elizabeth. This Elizabeth was the right age for my Elizabeth. She was living with Charles. However, to save face they gave the relationship to the head of the house as wife.

In 1870 he decided to do the right thing and marry her. The marriage was registered on 13 June 1870. On the 1871 census she is with her husband Charles and a lodger, William Privett.

By 1881 Elizabeth was living with her daughter Jane and son James. William Privett was now the head of the house and Elizabeth was recorded as a widow. By 1891, sadly, the children were in the workhouse. The census did not turn up an Elizabeth Woodman, so I assumed she had died. I was intrigued that William Privett had lived with the family for a number of years. I searched the 1891 census for William Privett only to find he now had a wife Elizabeth, aged 73, born in Lincolnshire, Stamford: the right age and birth place for my Elizabeth.

A search of the marriage indexes showed Elizabeth Woodman married William Privett in 1882. I purchased the marriage certificate, which proved it was my Elizabeth. They were married on 10 October 1882.

At last I found her death, as Elizabeth Privett, on 19 October 1895. What I discovered was that Elizabeth was a bigamist, not once but twice. There was never a divorce between her and her first husband, Isaac Maddocks. Her third husband, William Privett, was 20 years her junior. Her first husband outlived her by three years. - Sue Greene
